Explore Fall Gardens

Twenty-eight acres of abundant gardens, magnificent trees, shady woodlands and spectacular views beckon visitors to Wave Hill in the fall. The rich colors of the season are present in late-blooming flowers, colorful leaves and interesting fruits and seedpods. This exhilarating display complements the vivid fall foliage of the Palisades across the Hudson River. To learn more, join a free garden walk on Wednesdays and Sundays.

- 2 HERBERT & HYONJA ABRONS WOODLAND
A half-mile trail ambles along the wooded slope.
- 5 PERGOLA OVERLOOK Admire fiery fall color along the river from this Italianate structure. Hanging baskets, containers and beds burst with tropical plants through mid-fall.
- 6 FLOWER GARDEN Surrounded by a rustic cedar fence, this exuberant garden includes eight central beds, each a different color hue. Colorful salvia, aster and dahlia flowers persist until the first frost.
- 7 MARCO POLO STUFANO CONSERVATORY As temperatures cool, frost-tender plants are moved back inside to wait out winter, filling the glass houses with exotic scents, colors and forms.
